Social and Personal

With so many interesting affairs going on outside of the city, there will be little to do this Saturday afternoon and evening but drink tea with one's friends at the Country Club in the afternoon, with perhaps the table on the terrace if the weather permits, or dining later in the evening with more friends. There will be the usual informal hop at the club house, and a few small dinners will be given. Everything is so green and pretty after the week's rain that a number of people will motor into the real country with their luncheon for the day, and still others will go to country place near town for tea in the afternoon in wide gardens bright with flowers.

Mrs. Robins's Book.
Society in Richmond is very much interested in the recent announcement that Mrs. Sally Nelson Robins will publish her story, "Scuffles," that appeared some time ago in Good Housekeeping. The book, which is being brought out by the Alice Harriman Publishing Company, is full of breezy, quaint humor, and the characters are quite familiar to a good many people here.

Mrs. Robins gave a delightful read-

"All the officers at the yard, with their wives and many from the Marine Barracks will be present and will attend the banquet, while numerous parties have been made up in Norfolk and Portsmouth to enjoy the sight.

"The official christening party from the yard will consist of little Miss Clara Lyons, the sponsor; her mother, Mrs. J. Lyons, chief maid of honor, Miss Mary Colquitt, daughter of Governor Colquitt, of Texas; maids of honor, Miss Garland Bonne, of Houston; and Miss Uta Link, of Houston; a personal representative of Governor Colquitt and several members of his staff. There were many visitors from Lynchburg, Charlottesville, Red Hill and Annapolis. The music was furnished by the Lynchburg orchestra.

AMONG THE SPEEDERS

A. G. Jennings Not in Police Court When Case Is Called.
The only speeder on the Police Court docket yesterday morning was A. G. Jennings, charged with running automobile No. 202 faster than allowed by ordinance on the night of May 12. Jennings was not tried because he failed to appear when his name was called. Justice Crutchfield issued a rule to show cause why he should not be fined.

It was near midnight that Jennings was caught speeding up Broad Street hill. The car was so fast that it was feared that it was necessary for them to draw their pistols in order to stop him.

Well-Known English Philanthropist on His Way to America.

BY LA MARQUE DE FONTENAY.
Y. POL, and Tre, and Pen, you'll always know the Cornish man, is an old couplet, which serves to remind me that the family of Sir William Pendergast, the distinguished passenger, is about to reach these shores on the Celtic, which comes from Cornwall, that county in the extreme southwest of England, of which Cornwall is a part. The Cornish people are a distinct race, and their language is a Celtic one, and is not a mixture of English and Welsh, as the English people are. The Cornish people are a distinct race, and their language is a Celtic one, and is not a mixture of English and Welsh, as the English people are.

Although his trip over here is ostensibly for business purposes, he intends to devote every moment he can spare to the investigation of children's hospitals, in order to ascertain whether or not the Cornish people are in America that will tend to improve the condition of the noble institution at Alton, in Hampshire, known as the Lord Mayor's Hospital, which has nearly 400 inmates, and during the past three years is said to have cured nearly 500 cripples.

Accompanying Governor and Mrs. Mann was the board of visitors, appointed by the Governor, which includes Lieutenant Governor J. T. Ely, Thomas B. McAdams, of Richmond, L. L. Lewis, of Richmond, Warren B. Taylor, of Richmond, and A. D. Brock, of Alexandria. Colonel Benjamin P. Owen, Governor Mann's private secretary, was also a member of the party.

The regents showed the Governor's party over the estate, and explained the improvements that are contemplated. Governor Mann expressed satisfaction at the way in which the estate is maintained. The party will leave Mount Vernon at 4 o'clock.

Miss Jane Riggs, daughter of the founder of the Riggs National Bank, was unanimously elected vice-regent from the District of Columbia yesterday to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mrs. Barnes, the District vice-regent.

Mrs. Jane M. E. Riggs, Miss Riggs's mother, was among the twenty-three vice-regents, appointed in 1885. It was upon her resignation, in 1888, that Mrs. Barnes was elected from the District, making Mrs. Riggs, therefore, the third vice-regent that represented the District in the association. Miss Riggs lives at the old Riggs home, 1617 I Street, Northwest. The council will close to-morrow.

THANK YOU! SHE SAYS
Because, After Doctor's Medicines and Everything Else Had Failed, The Woman's Tonic Brought Long-Sought Relief.

Copper Hill, Va.—"I must thank you," writes Mrs. Ida Conner, of this place, "because you have done so much for me. Cardui is a wonderful medicine, and it's a pleasure to write about the benefit received from its use.

Many years I had to stay in bed, sick with bearing-down pains and pain in my side.

I had given up all hopes of ever getting well, because doctors' medicines which I took at different times gave me no relief, nor anything else that anybody told me to try.

Finally I began to take Cardui, the woman's tonic, three times a day. After a few doses the pain in my side grew less, then quit, and it hasn't come back since.

I feel like a new person now, and cannot help but recommend such a good medicine."

There is no reason why any woman should suffer from pain such as Mrs. Conner describes.

Cardui is a remedy for just such conditions. Thousands of women have found relief in its use.

You will find relief, too. Don't give up! Give yourself one more chance. Take Cardui.

The Dolphin will leave the shipyard early to-morrow, and Secretary Meyer and his party will occupy seats on the launching platform at the boat launch.
